

Re: Hold time limits for incoming VRS callers. As a VRS interpreter I can tell you that although we try our best to reduce hold times as much as possible, with the shortage of interpreters and the extremely high call volume, it would not be humanly possible to answer calls in the time this change in FCC rules would allow. I urge you to please reconsider this change in hold time requirements.